Episode 4
The Heaven of Lazybones

Is this the place where you can experience fairytales?
me
You're in the right place
What did you want to come and see?
This is a character from a different world.
Just like in the stories
Huh?
The Heaven of Lazybones

Wait, what story is that?
Eh? Don't you know? It's about a world full of lazy people and food.
Mm there is no fairytale like that by the Brothers Grimm.
What do you mean? I saw it when I was young!
It was from a children's story book by Gye X Publisher
I want to see it!
I want to experience it!
That heaven !
Mm magnificent scene.

Then you will remember the fairytale that you read when you were young, and you will experience it.
You can see the scenes here and live it,
But it's your memory, so it will be different from the real story
I'll do it! Please let me do it!

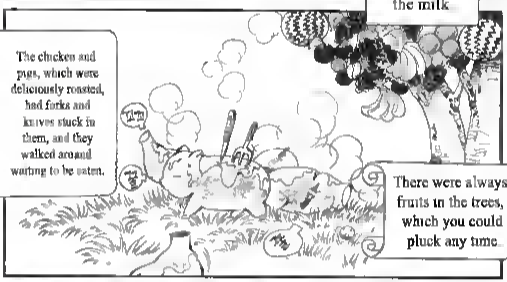
Even if you say that, I can only tell you what I know about it.
Aaaaaah- this can't be happening!
You told me that I could experience the fairytale world with virtual reality, but this is-!
Look...
Okay. I will use a different method.
Yes?
Now, look into this crystal.

Well, I'll use the story inside your memory
Aah, yes, finally, I'm experiencing this,
The fairy tale that I heard when I was young
I thought that it was written by the Brothers Grimm and I looked for it, but I could never find it.

There once was a country with only lazybones in it.
Let me tell you about it.

The people in this country didn't have to do anything
They only had to eat, sleep, and play
Aah- it's wonderful

There was always fresh milk in the river of this country
Oh oh- right, the river of the milk



The chicken and pigs, which were deliciously roasted, had forks and knives stuck in them, and they walked around waiting to be eaten.
Yum
There were always fruits in the trees, which you could pluck any time
Sfx. Oink

The rain of this country was sweet wine
Today it's wine
The snow was ice cream, the hail was candy
Oh oh oh-

Roasted birds were flying in the sky and when a lazybone called them...
Come fly here-
Enter
Munch Munch
...It is a country like this.
Ahh.. I remember the story from my childhood..
I found it very mysterious, and I really wanted to go there.

When I was young, I wanted to go there
I want to go now, even though I'm older That is...
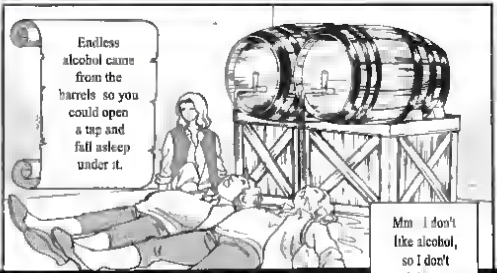
The desire of a simple lazybones!
me
Who cares
The houses were all made from snacks and freshly baked bread, and you could eat them any time.



Endless alcohol came from the barrels so you could open a tap and fall asleep under it.
Mm I don't like alcohol, so I don't need this part

Come to think of it now that I am older,
Japanese food, Chinese food, Korean food (Multi-course meals)
I find it much more delicious when I eat food like that Come to think of it, the rarest is walking around freshly roasted, but what would it taste like?

This part is a little different from what I want now.

Ha-! It's not a problem for something like this!
Let's concentrate on the fairytale.
There were clothes and jewels as decorations on the trees, and you could wear anything
Do you want to go to this country of lazybones where you could always eat whatever food you wanted, and where you wouldn't have to work?
I want to go!

But there was a problem for those who traveled to this country
You could only enter it after you ate seven mountains made of porridge That's the end of the story
I remember the mountains made of porridge
I despaired at those words Seven mountains made of porridge But

Are those porridges prawn porridge, or vegetable porridge?
I like prawn porridge
Well, if I like it, I will eat it a lot
...Did you want to see something like this?
Yes... can't I?
Me
No... your work... it must be very stressful

Haha of course
I eat a lot because of deadline stress.
me
Play and sleep
She is remembering what happened.

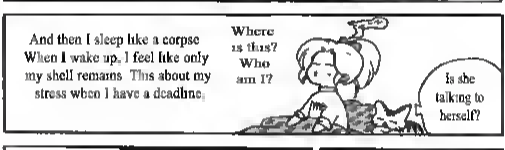
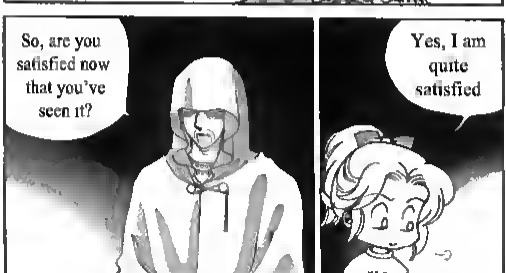
Wait...wait
That is what happens before a deadline.
When I have a deadline, I really have to work hard.



And then I sleep like a corpse
When I wake up, I feel like only my shell remains. This about my stress when I have a deadline.
Where is this? Who am I?
Is she talking to herself?



So, are you satisfied now that you've seen it?
Yes, I am quite satisfied
me

Even though I saw it as a fairytale from my memories,
me
I feel more relaxed to see a world like this.
This looks cool!
Well, you could do that. I had fun too.
Then, thank you for showing me.
me
Did you pay?
Look

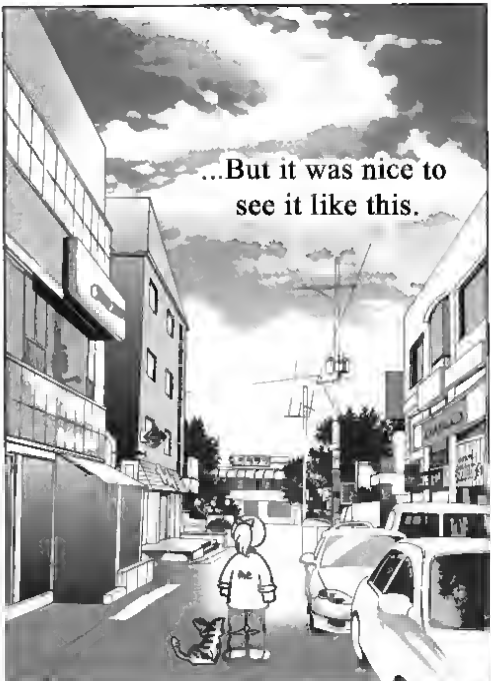
Sfx: Firm

Ah... it's nice weather outside.

Yes. it's a land I can t go to The heaven of lazybones...



Haha... this is a proper serious ending.

I thought this Heaven of Lazybones was written by the Brothers Grimm, but I couldn't find the original story, so I drew it according to my childhood memory of it.
But I found the original story after I drew the manhwa! (I bought a different book with the same name from the publisher.)

So I am showing you the original story, for those of you who were curious about it

This was not from the Brothers Grimm, but by a different author

There are places which are different from my memories, but the fairytale of my childhood was made for children, so it could have been edited with children in mind. ^^ I only remembered about the food —. To think there were such parts in this story!

The picture beside it is Pieter Bruegel the Elder's drawing, The Land of Cockaigne

Tbe Heaven of Lazybones

Written by Bechstein (1810~ 1856)

Gather round, and I will tell you about a magnificent country. If you knew where this country was, and had a ship to take you there, everybody would leave for this land, but it's really a long way to travel for children and old people. This beautiful country is called 'Shurarapent,' and the neighbouring country calls it 'Kukann'
In this country, every house is made of bread, and the doors and walls are made of snacks filled with honey. The pillars are made from roasted pork. They costs 1000 won in my country, but they costs one won in that country. Every house has a fence, and the fence is made from sausage. There are some which were roasted in a grill, and some that were just steamed, and you can taste whichever you like.
In every spring, alcohol flows instead of water.
There is sweet Marvasia wine which smells nice, and other delicious wines, and champagne flowing there. If you suck it through straw, it flows into your mouth.
If you like alcohol, you should go to Shurarapant now.
On the birch trees and willow trees, there is freshly baked bread, and under the trees, there is a stream of milk. The bread falls onto this milk, and it becomes soft for people who like to eat their bread that way. For women and children, for workhands and nurses, this is the best thing! Right, Greter? Yes, Stiefel? Don't you want to go? Now, you can go to the stream where the bread is floating, but you should bring a big bottle for the milk.
The fish swim on the top of the stream.
The fish are already roasted or steamed,
but if you are a lazybones who doesn't want to catch one, you only have to call out,
'Come here, come here' Then the fish will jump out of the water and land into your hand, and you won't even have to bend your back.

Can you believe that the ostriches, turkeys, pigeons, chickens, and skylarks in this country fly in a roasted state? If you find it annoying to reach out for them, they will fly into your mouth. The pigs grow well and also walk around in a roasted state. Knives are stuck in the back of the young pigs, so you can cut as much juicy meat as you like.

In Shurarapent, cheeses are on the ground like pebbles. Stones are either bird-food for delicious roast birds, or pies full of meat. When it's winter, it rains honey, and anybody can eat it just by opening their mouths as it falls. It is very fun. The snow is ice cream, and the hail is candy made from figs and raisins and ginkgo. The horses of this land lay a basket of eggs rather than poop, so you can buy thousands of eggs for only one won, and money comes down to earth like chestnuts when you shake the trees. Everybody can have money when they shake the trees, so money is not overly valued in this country.

There is a big forest in this land. There are pretty clothes in the bushes and trees. There are shirts and cloaks and coats and pants and vests, in black and green and yellow. Blue and red and many other colored clothes are there as well. If you want new clothes, you can go to the forest and take down the clothing with stones or arrows.

In the rough fields, there is velvet and silk and muslin and Velata fabric and Madras fabric and Gopa fabric, and there are lots of beautiful women's clothes. The grass is made of many colored ribbons and it has wave pattern to it. On a small tree, there are boots and shoes and many hats which can be worn by women or men, straw hat and bats with feathers, and many feathers from fancy birds. There are lots of hat pins made from the buprestid beetle, pearl, and enamel, and there are silks with gold threads.

There are two major markets in this land. When your wife is old, you can exchange your wife for a young, beautiful one, and you can get even money from the trade. The women who are old and ugly (Like the old saying goes, humans become ugly when they are old) go to the river where you can become young again. This river is very powerful and when an old woman is under that river for two or three days, she becomes young like a 16 year old. There is a lot of heaven in Shurarapent. Whatever you couldn't do in your country, you can do in this country. You can win at gambling and archery and spear-throwing. The people who couldn't shoot an arrow straight at all in your land can strike the heart of the target no matter how far away they are from it.

In your country, lazyhones are bankrupt because they are lazy, and have to be heggars. This country is a very good place for people like that. When you sleep for an hour, you eare 1000 won and when you yawn, you earn 500 won. When you lose money from gambling, you automatically earn your money back.

The drunkards can drink the best alcohol for free, and when a woman or man drinks, they can earn 30 won each time. When you tease somebody and pull a trick on them, you get 200 won. Whatever you do, you get money, and the person who tells the biggest lie gets 1000 gold coins.

In your country, lots of people lie, and you can't make any money when you lie. In this country, lying is the most wonderful skill, and the people who are congressman and doctors and teachers like it. Drivers who deceived their customers and didn't keep their promises, and technicians, lie a lot and come to this country.

The people who want to be a scholar in this country must try to be people who don't know anything. There are students like this in your country, but they don't get any respect and they are useless. But in this country, the people who want to be scholars are lazyhones and they must be proud, for it is a great study. I know one man who could be a university lecturer ny now.

People who like working and doing good things, and people who don't do bad things, anybody like that is hated and gets banished from Shurarapent.

But people who are stupid, and people who are proud when they don't know how to do anything, are regarded as graceful people in this country.

The people who only know how to sleep and eat and drink and dance and play and can't do anything else, are appointed as counts. And of the people who are trying to get elected, the person who is the most lazy and useless, becomes the king, and gets lots of money.

So now, with this, you know what Shurarapent is like. The people who want to go to this country but don't know how, should ask blind people. Or mute people. Why? A mute can't tell you about any other way.

But this country is surrounded by mountains made from porridge. So when you want to enter this country, you must destroy the mountain of porridge by eating it.
